

Biography

Ji Young Bang, MD, MDBS, MRCP, MPH
Director of Clinical Research

Bio

Dr. Ji Young Bang is a board-certified internal medicine physician fellowship-trained in gastroenterology. Dr. Bang received her medical degree from University College London Medical School and completed a Master of Public Health degree at Imperial College of London. She completed a residency in internal medicine at the University of Alabama at Birmingham where she quickly became established as a dedicated researcher and was awarded the Young Investigator Travel Award for the American Pancreatic Association, and the distinguished TIME-R (Trainees in Internal Medicine Mentored Experience in Research) Award. Following her time at UAB, she completed a fellowship in gastroenterology at Indiana University School of Medicine in Indianapolis, IN. Dr. Bang is widely published in the fields of gastroenterology and interventional endoscopy and is a member of the American Society of Gastrointestinal Endoscopy, the American Gastroenterology Association and the American College of Gastroenterology.

Education

Medical School - University College of London Medical School

Residencies- University of Alabama at Birmingham

Fellowships-Gastroenterology - Indiana University