

Gastroenterology & Hepatology

Irteza Inayat, MD

Board-Certified Gastroenterologist

AdventHealthMedicalGroup.com

Irteza Inayat, MD, is Medical Director of the Center for Esophageal and Swallowing Disorders at AdventHealth Orlando. He is board certified in gastroenterology and internal medicine. He completed his internal medicine training and fellowship in digestive diseases at Yale University School of Medicine, where he received the coveted John W. Brackett Residency Teacher of the Year Award. He diagnoses and treats a wide range of digestive diseases, with special emphasis on esophageal and swallowing disorders, esophageal and colorectal cancer, chronic liver disease, endoscopic mucosal resection (EMR) technique for advanced colorectal neoplasm, treatment of Barrett's esophagus using minimally invasive endoscopic therapies (such as radiofrequency ablation, cryoablation and EMR), gastroparesis, anorectal disorders and functional bowel disorders such as IBS. He is fluent in English and Urdu.

PROFILE

- Fellowship, Gastroenterology & Hepatology, Yale University School of Medicine, New Haven, CT
- Residency, Internal Medicine, Yale-New Haven Hospital/Yale School of Medicine, New Haven, CT

SPECIALTIES

- Anorectal motility disorders
- Belching disorders and rumination syndrome
- Colorectal cancer screening
- Esophageal motility disorders (achalasia, spastic disorders, IEM)
- Functional bowel disorders (IBS)
- Inflammatory bowel disease and other digestive disorders
- Liver disease
- Management of refractory esophageal strictures
- Refractory GERD (gastroesophageal reflux disease)

2415 North Orange Avenue, Suite 200 | Orlando, FL 32804
2000 Fowler Grove Boulevard, Third Floor | Winter Garden, FL 34787
407-303-1812 | 407-303-1815 FAX

2400 North Orange Blossom Trail, Suite 302 | Kissimmee, FL 34744
407-932-6193 | 407-932-6194 FAX